I am proud to announce that I'm supporting @worldfemalerangerweek! Launched by international NGO, @howmanyelephants, to recognise and celebrate female rangers worldwide, @worldfemalerangerweek supports global conservation efforts.

@worldfemalerangerweek will be taking place on 23 - 30 June. Will you join me in showing your support for the brave female rangers who are working tirelessly to protect the world's most endangered wildlife?

THIS is why I'm supporting @worldfemalerangerweek on June 23 – 30th!

Currently, less than 11% of the global wildlife ranger workforce is female. Through @worldfemalerangerweek, @howmanyelephants aims to collate gender-specific data about female rangers, identify their needs, find tangible solutions and build effective policies to contribute towards positive outcomes for female rangers and conservation as a whole.

Together, we can support female rangers and protect wildlife and wild spaces.

I'm proud to be collaborating with @howmanyelephants and its incredible @worldfemalerangerweek, which aims to recognise, celebrate and support female rangers around the world, on the 23 – 30th June each year. @worldfemalerangerweek and @howmanyelephants support the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), specifically No.5: Gender Equality, No.15: Life on Land, and No.17: Partnerships for the Goals.

In keeping with these goals, @howmanyelephants hopes that @worldfemalerangerweek and its accompanying fundraising platform will aid its mission to support female-led conservation efforts and increase gender diversity in ranger teams globally.
